Digital Healthcare Challenges
Compliance Complexities & Rising Threats

Uday Ali Pabrai, CISSP, CSCS™ ecfirst.com, Chief Executive

The need to secure the digital information infrastructure is critical to almost all organizations for access to vital customer/patient data. The online communications of patients, physicians, nurses, business associates and employees — coupled with the intense pressure to deliver more effective corporate governance and achieve compliance — are impacting the way you do business. Management is not only struggling with the demands of growing servers, applications and interfaces but also the threats to client and wireless systems. The demand for stronger security is serious as is the requirement for the availability of sensitive healthcare information. At this meeting our speaker will:

- Explain and examine several important compliance requirements such as SOX, PCI DSS, FISMA, HIPAA, FFIEC, and Indiana Security Law Indiana PL125 that impact the security priorities of businesses across industries.
- Walk-thru key security frameworks & standards such as ISO 17799:2005, NIST, and COBIT.
- Evaluate critical steps for enabling a security program that is built on successful compliance-based best practices deployed in multiple industries.
